Critic's Corner

Wow. Just wow. This movie lived up to, and way beyond, the hype. Containment Wall's performance was convincing albeit formulaic. Probably because it's a wall. Paul Sander is deserving of an Oscar... or at least employee of the month.

Critic's Corner

Sonja Day is a badass. Whoever claims that catch basin insect stormwater management is a man's world hasn't seen this catch action! With the Ultra-Drain Guard as an equally captivating catch this movie instantly earns its spot with stormwater blockbuster the likes of "Socky", "Crouching Tiger, Hidden Drain Guard", "Drain Guardians of the Galaxy".

Critic's Corner

Ultra-Repair Putty has always been a favorite of mine so I was thrilled to see it on the big screen! It's sandable! It's paintable! And it gets as hard as steel in an hour! What's not to like?! Combine all of that with cutting edge special effects and gratuitous nudity and you've got a winner!

I admit, I scoffed aloud when I read that the Drum Rack Containment System was starring in an action movie. I didn't think it could pull it off but boy howdy, was I ever wrong! The performances of the super-talented trio of Strange, Dawkins and Stephens makes this an instant classic!

Critic's Corner

A lot of people don't believe that IBCs can become meat-eating killing machines that swim the oceans in search of prey but I've always been leary of them. I mean, it's not like someone would just Photoshop a savage mouth full of teeth on a tank right? What kind of sick mind would do such a thing. Anyhow, I give it two thumbs up!

Steel containment all too often takes a back seat to polyethylene. mark my words, this will be the claim to fame for steel spill pallets. strong. It's sleek. And it doesn't melt! How can poly NOT be green with envy? Ha! See what I did there? Oh, Jarvis was pretty good.

Courtney Kucera is indeed a beauty. But she is so much more! What a talent! Oh sure, the Ultra-Spill Berm has been a crowd-pleaser for many years but Courtney stole the show! I typically prefer "shoot 'em up" kinda movies with gratuitous violence but I truly enjoyed this film. And, I'm not ashamed to admit that I wept like a newborn at the end.

Critic's Corner

Steel containment all too often takes a back seat to polyethylene but mark my words, this will be the claim to fame for steel spill pallets! It's strong. It's sleek. And it doesn't melt! How can poly NOT be green with envy? Ha! See what I did there? Oh, Jarvis was pretty good too!
