Critic's Corner

Ms. Kucera's performance was exceptional. I might even go so far as to say it was "wonder-ful" See what I did there? And kudos to the Ultra-Pellet Pans for a rousing albeit slightly over-the-top performance. It's understandable though, pellet containment gets everyone excited!

Run, don't walk to this one! Action. Adventure. Drama. Anime. Ok, not anime but this movie has everything else! Molly Garibay, most known for her musical talents has shown she's a multi-talented, multi-faceted entertainment force to be dealt with for many years to come! Mario was ok.

I laughed. I cried. Not because of the movie but because I'm an emotional guy. Is that bad? Big fan of Jim Flowers. I have been since his work in "Catch Me If You Pan". But if it weren't for Ultra-Archaea, this movie would've been a dumpster fire.

Shaw? Shaw? Anyone? I loved everything about this movie. From Matt Shaw's wardrobe to the best darned drum top funnel the industry has seen. Splashless pouring. Yup. Passive draining? No problem. What's not to love? Also, I could listen to Matt sing "Danke Schoen"... All. Day. Long.

“Spillder” man? Who comes up with this stuff? Pure drivel, from start to finish! The Ultra-Spill Deck was good. Great even. But so clearly a waste of talent in this unfortunate release. I mean, come on, when has any Ultra-Spill Deck ever struggled to contain a spill? I get that it’s supposed to add to the suspense but how about just a modicum of realism?!

Of all of the spill response-themed dolls, Bermbie has always been my favorite so I was thrilled when I heard this movie was being made. Sadly, if it weren't for Michael Turner's abs, it wouldn't have been worth watching. Laurie Brochu was stunning as always and diverts spills like no other.

I've known that Ultra-Containment Berms were chemically-resistant but they're good in salt water too?! Wow! Just wow! I've worked with Priscilla Jiminez for years but had no idea she was a mermaid! She's always hid it so well. But I am ecstatic that she was able to "show her tail" for this wonderful movie!

I always admire the moxie of filmmakers that re-make a classic. Especially a movie of this magnitude. But not only did they do it justice, they quite possibly made it even better! Critic's Corner

Not even sure what "spillpossible" means but it should mean "the greatest spill deck movie of all time"! Because THAT mission was accomplished! Mario Cruise continues to be underrated as an action hero and... good LORD, that man is sexy! A little formulaic to have the spill deck save the day at the end, but hey, that's what spill decks do!

Critic's Corner

It's a known fact that the spirits of the dead prefer UltraTech spill containment... just like the living. So those nitwits who think this is a fantasy need to check themselves. Sophia Li is a shoe-in for the "Best Purchasing Manger in a Clairvoyant Role" award and it was absolutely refreshing to see Father Ken Strange return to his religious/exorcism roots.

Critic's Corner

One of the greatest stories of all time! Amazing cinematography, extravagant costumes, and, of course, unmatched cord protection. Mark and Dale Shaw's on-screen chemistry wasn't quite on par with the rest of the movie. There's rumors that they had a heated discussion about a fire extinguisher holder right before they got to the set.

Critic's Corner

Sam Bates turns in an Employee-of-the-month-worthy performance in the latest tale from the Lord of the Spill Kings saga. He knows Middle Earth VERRRY well. New comer, Maria Flores was captivating and Tim McGrath's beard game was on point. But, once again, the real show stopper was the Spill Kings. They dispelled any talk of being a "one trick pony" by not just offering spill containment but material handling as well. Kudos to you Ultra-Spill Kings... kudos to you.

Critic's Corner
One of the greatest stories of all time! Amazing cinematography, extravagant costumes, and, of course, unmatched cord protection. Made and Done Shaw's eye-opening chemistry with the cast of the movie. There's a reason that they had a heated discussion about a fire extinguisher holder right before they got to the set.
